PROFESSIONAL DISCLOSURE

These recognitions are issued by independent private organizations. They are not presented as accreditation by the U.S. Department of Education (USDE) or the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA), and do not independently guarantee acceptance by a government, employer, licensing authority, university or credential evaluator. Learners and partners should verify suitability for their intended purpose and jurisdiction.

Authentication pathways for international use

Academic documents may be submitted to applicable U.S. authentication or legalization processes, subject to document type, destination and current authority requirements.

1

NOTARY PUBLIC

Verification or notarization where applicable.

2

STATE AUTHORITY

State-level certification or apostille, as applicable.

3

U.S. AUTHENTICATION

Federal authentication where required for the destination.

4

CONSULAR LEGALIZATION

LEGAL EFFECT DEPENDS ON DESTINATION

An apostille or authentication confirms the origin of a signature or seal; it does not convert a private institutional credential into government accreditation, guarantee academic equivalency, or compel acceptance. Requirements should be confirmed before ordering legalization.
